

INSTALLING A LINUX 7.1 PROGRAM UPDATE

To install the latest Linux 7.1 software update from CD, please follow the instructions below to ensure a smooth and trouble free update.

Installing The Autologue Programs

1. With all terminals logged off, except for the management terminal, insert the Autologue Linux 7.1 Update CD into the drive.
2. From the Main Menu, select 13 (System Commands) and press <Return>.
3. From the System Commands menu, select 3 (Install Program Updates) and press <Return>. The following menu will be displayed on the screen:

```
Install Program Updates

1  Modify the existing installation.
2  Install new programs from CD-ROM.
Q  Quit.
Type your choice and press <Return>
```

4. With the cursor positioned at the Type your choice and press <Return> prompt, enter 2 (Install new programs from CD-ROM) and press <Return>. The following will now be displayed on the screen:

```
Install program updates.
Everyone must be off the system before continuing.
Are all terminals at login (Y/N)
```

5. With the cursor positioned at the Are all terminals at login (Y/N) prompt, enter y and press <Return>.
6. With the cursor positioned at the Has the Autologue CD-ROM been inserted (y/n) prompt, , enter y and press <Return>.

The system will automatically mount the CD-ROM and then begin the installation.

7. When the screen displays a "Starting Status Report" and with the cursor positioned on the bottom of the screen at the : prompt, enter q.

The system will display a few messages and then exit back to the System Commands menu. If your system is setup with either the ePartConnection, ePaperless Office or eDelivery, then you will need to shutdown your system. Otherwise your system is now ready for business.

8. Contact the customer service department and inform them of the software version that was installed on the system.

☞ Note: Please place the Linux 7.1 Update CD in a secure location because Customer Service may ask you to access it in the future. Do NOT discard or send back the CD!
